

CLOTHING COMPANIES APPROACHES TO PRIVACY POLICIES, REGULATIONS, AND LAWS IN BANGLADESH

Legal Law Violation

- Aarong's unclear terms and conditions regarding the end User License Agreement may leave customers unclear about important legal aspects, while Yellow's policies, Sailor and Richman also lack transparency on this issue, potentially leading to legal complications and disputes.
- Aarong has faced legal action over the mishandling of customer data, including sensitive payment information, which may have resulted in a breach of data protection regulations.
- Yellow received a legal complaint from a customer who claimed that charged him a higher price than advertised, leading to allegations of illegal pricing practices by .

Data Access and Opt-Out

- Aarong, Sailor, Richman and Yellow allow customers to access, modify or delete their data upon request.
- These companies provide opt-out options to customers, respecting privacy options.

Social Media Engagement

- Aarong participates through social networks, accesses information from accounts to distribute content or operates pages on third party platforms.
- Richman warns against uploading images with location data and downloadable data from on-premise images.
- Gold market through social networks; Ad targeting, sharing features; Agree to Communications via Plug-in; Visit the Social Media Help Center for more details about privacy.
- Sailor did not provide any information regarding her views on participating in social media.

COPPA Compliance

Sailor indicates not collecting from kids under 13, but Yellow commits to deleting info from children under 13 if acquired.

Aarong and Richman do not verify age and have not mentioned anything about the COPPA.

Sources

- https://www.aarong.com/aarong-privacy-policy
- https://www.sailor.clothing/page/privacy-policy
- https://www.yellowclothing.net/pages/privacy-policy
- https://richmanbd.com/privacy-policy/

Chosen Clothing Brands

YELLOW · Aarong আড়ং · Richman mens wear · sailor BY EPYLLION

Data Collection and Use

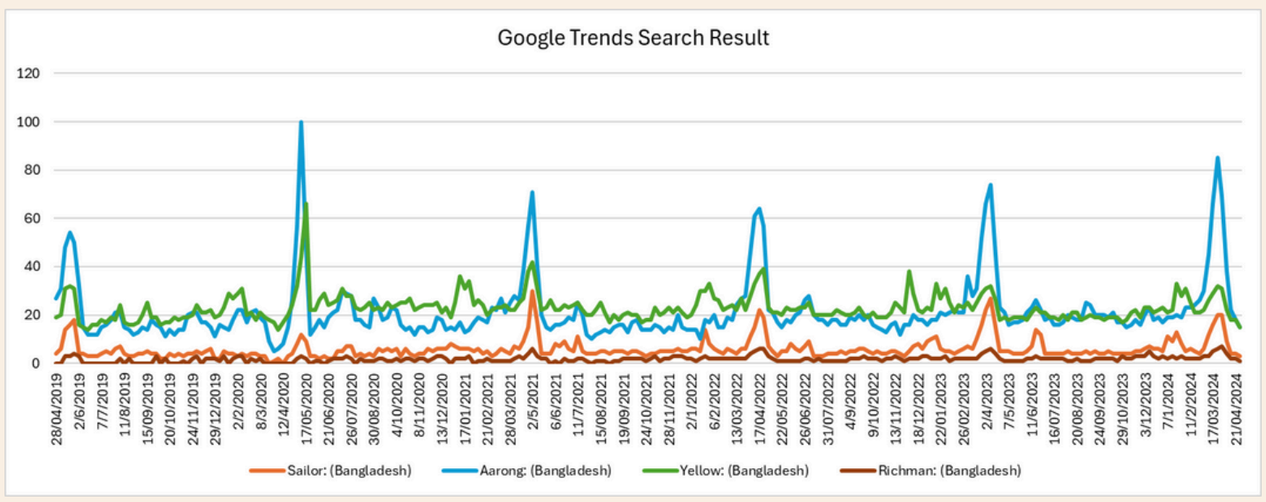

- Every brand gathers personal data from customers through order monitoring, newsletter sign-ups, and other activities.
- Order processing, service improvement, and promotion sending all require the utilization of data.

Data Share and Selling

- Aarong shares your information with BRAC and other companies to provide services, while Sailor uses your data to run their website better but doesn't sell it under the CCPA Privacy law.
- Richman includes outside content and keeps user data, while Yellow uses gathered information to make things better, talk with users, and follow the law.

Website Analytics and Cookies

- For analytics purposes, Sailor uses log files to record visitor information such as IP addresses, browsers, timestamps, and interactions that are not associated with personally identifiable information.
- Yellow employs cookies and tracking technologies to offer customized experiences, possibly connecting to previous data to enable personalized advertisements.
- The use of log files for data collecting is not mentioned in Aarong and Richman's privacy policy information.

Conclusion

In all situations, Sailor emphasizes transparency by complying with COPPA regulations, verifying age, providing access to data, opt-out options, and effectively communicating methods of sharing data with your customers.

Presenters

- Fariha Mosharof (2020-1-60-171)
- Zarin Tasnim Hassan (2020-1-60-169)
- Tanjilul Haq (2020-1-60-214)
- Zarin Tasnim Nuzhat (2020-1-60-211)